Career Objective

Interior Architecture graduate with a foundation in Visual Arts, bringing a cross-disciplinary perspective to spatial design. I have a strong eye for detail, a passion for interior design, and excellent communication skills. I'm passionate about creating a meaningful space and believe thoughtful design can quietly shape how people feel and live. Through academic projects at the University of Technology Sydney and professional experience at Freeman Ryan Design, I have developed skills in spatial planning, material research, technical documentation, and FF&E support. Currently seeking a role where I can contribute, grow, and deepen my practice in the interior design field.
